

Charting the Progress: The Power of Triangulation

FEBRUARY 12TH 3:00 PM

How can automobile mechanics instructors enhance the evaluation of student performance during the learning process? What evidence should they base their professional judgment on? Next week's episode of the Voc Talk Café will explore triangulation: an approach based on evidence gathered through conversations, observations, and student production.

Every Monday at 3:00 PM, the Voc Talk Café focuses on a specific trade sector but remains open to all vocational educators. The first 15 minutes are dedicated to information and the next 45 minutes to discussion and exploration.
