

Exploring the Impact of Simulations in Healthcare Training

JANUARY 22ND 3:00 PM

Join us to examine the realm of simulations in healthcare programs. Let's reflect on the relevance of these simulations for different learners, specific content areas, and the overarching goal of developing practical skills. Whether through real-world scenarios involving student role-playing or the immersive landscapes of computer games or virtual reality, let's delve into the impact on student engagement and information retention.

Every Monday at 3:00 PM, the Voc Talk Café focuses on a specific trade sector but remains open to all vocational educators. The first 15 minutes are dedicated to information and the next 45 minutes to discussion and exploration.
